Chapter 11

Healing Section - Governing Principles

The following healing suggestions are offered to your inner intelligence along with the tools necessary to implement them. Please read the following chapters at normal pace, scanning the harmonics and fractal equations quickly rather than analysing them in any detail. Your unconscious mind will store all the data with perfect accuracy and order. The whole process should only take about 30 minutes.

To help the energy changes, please place your hands on your torso once you have read this section. You should do this for approximately 20 minutes or until you feel that the need to do so has passed.

These detailed propositions in the following chapters are designed to support the inner intelligence in its efforts to find and maintain homeostasis. The benefits of each step should be self-evident, but the following safety measures are to be followed:

- All suggestions are voluntary and should only be followed if appropriate.

- All changes should be vital force enhancing at some level once fully implemented. If a completed procedure lowers vital force, then it should be reversed.

- If a procedure is not needed immediately, it may be kept available for a more appropriate time in the future.

- The procedures follow a rough chronological order, but this order may be over-ridden if appropriate.

- All elements of this programme to be repeated whenever necessary, while retaining our right to free will.

- The need to repeat aspects of this programme will be identified by either the higher self or the conscious intent of the user.

- Instructions should be implemented at the physical, emotional, etheric, astral, soul and blueprint levels at all dimensions of the body where they are needed, across the Universe and all dimensions and times – every moment of now.

- All harmonics are written in a straight line but represent a spiralling list, where the last number loops back to the first, creating a repeating concept, apart from the 'reconnecting to Universal intelligence' sequence at the end of the general energy section.

- All harmonics and the toning elements within fractal equations to resonate at the optimal frequency of 12000 Hz.

- All fractal equations to be supported by the colour vibrations of brown for earth, blue for air, green for plants, gold for light and white for purity.

- Each fractal equation should resonate with all the colours of the rainbow, including the primary colours of gold, silver, bronze, zinc, carbon and shades of amber.

- The Zero Point Field is to be checked for enhancements made to the system every time it is used, so that the energy of the latest version is always available.

We recognise that time is quantum in nature and defies division or the artificial constructs of past, present and future. As such, we ask that these healing concepts transcend our veiled understanding of time and apply always, in all ways.
